Re: United States v. Paige Thompson, CR19-159 RSL (W.D. Wash.)

Dear Counsel:

In our March 11, 2022, letter setting forth our intent to offer evidence of other victims in this case, we indicated that we served additional legal process on Amazon Web Services (AWS) to identify additional cryptocurrency-mining victims. This legal process and AWS's responsive records (except, perhaps, those relating to Elemental Technologies, which we still are awaiting) will be included with the next discovery production, Production 14.

We further indicated that we would identify, by April 22, 2022, other companies that we intend to show are cryptocurrency-mining victims. Based upon that process, we currently expect to introduce evidence that some or all of the following companies also were cryptocurrency-mining victims:
